To my Patrons and Friends in Bangor and vicinity—Greeting.

For many years I have used "VULCANITE RUBBER" as a BASE for artificial teeth. But there is mercury in this plate and many who wear teeth prepared in this way have suffered severely with canker in the mouth. But for more than three years I have used a new patent—the "CELLULOID" BASE, with the greatest satisfaction. This plate is entirely free from every thing that can produce soreness to the mouth. My patients are delighted with it, and the more I use it the better I like. Those who suffer from the use of RUBBER can come and have a new set of teeth made upon Celluloid for a very small sum.

All dental work that comes to me, I will do in the best possible manner and at the lowest terms.

Yours truly,

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin

The Lewiston Journal says: Our mills are now doing a better business than they have done for a long time and we should not be surprised if early orders came in for starting up the Lincoln, the only one of our cotton mills now idle. This is a good time for the crowders to do the work. Business seems to have settled at last on a solid basis with the best at present engaged in commercial pursuits, having adapted themselves to the economic surroundings of the depressed situation. It is all the more reassuring for a permanent revival of trade. Speculation is killed, legitimate dealing is now the prevailing tendency, debts are no hastily incurred and credit counts more than it did in the past. The currency agitation without a settle present cheering business indications. Resumption will be certainly after January 1st. A new Congress will not assemble before a year therefrom. By that time small commercial dealings will prevail, business will have been adjusted to the new order of things, the speculation here will have been exploded and overdone, and industrious capitalist and laborer will have found that honest money, the only guarantee to permanent prosperity, but business interests will suffer not that little. Action on the currency question or interfering with trade. Political tricksters and demagogues will find their level when honest toil and legitimate business will come to the front. Foreign commerce and receipts at the seaboard ports show that the demand for our products are meeting with large export demand. England and France are both deficient in breadstuffs, the crops will not afford their usual supply. In grain districts of the Black Sea are still unsettled by war and they must necessarily look to the United States for their supplies. Fortunately we have enough for our own demand and can export all that is required abroad. The energies of this great nation are slowly but surely reviving. With the revival of business and an abundance of spare water power look to see Lewiston take a start ahead.

Cumberland

Two hundred and fifty eight arrests were made in Portland, during the month of September.

The Portland Cadets entertained the Auburn Light Infantry while at the Public House, Thursday, on their way home from the shoot at Biddeford.

Knox

The Bodwell & Webster Granite Company of Vinalhaven have just quarried the largest piece of granite in the United States, it is sixty five feet long, ten feet square and weighs seven hundred and twenty one tons. It is designed to make a monument for Gen Wool of Ohio. When finished the one piece will be sixty feet long and with the base, floor and statue will be about one hundred feet high. It costs $1300 to get the stone on the wharf where it is, and the whole expense of the monument will be $16,000.

Lincoln

The seventh annual meeting of the Fair was held at Boothbay Centre, opening Tuesday under the most favorable circumstances. The weather was delightful and the first day was devoted to the arrangement of articles for the exhibition. The exhibition of the fruit crops was very fine, the farmers taking an unusual interest on account of the cash prices offered this year. The second day was somewhat interfering, by the rain, yet the attendance was very large. The fair has been in every sense a success.

Oxford

E. C. Andrews and A. M. Dunham two prominent citizens of Norway were very seriously injured Wednesday while returning from the fair by a runaway horse. The horse was driven by a one armed man and was frightened by a high load of apples and sleighs in the highway and ran against the fence, smashing the carriage, throwing the driver, and clearing from the carriage. The two men were on the sidewalk and were run over by the horse. Andrews had three ribs broken and Dunham's shoulder was smashed. Internal injuries are feared. There was so much dust they did not see the horse.

Sagadahoc

The Times says that Harry P Colburn of Bath, a week ago or more he cut one of his fingers. The wound was dressed but did not heal kindly and almost without warning he was taken with locked jaw which despite the utmost medical skill Thursday, term ated in death.

Somerset

Several independent militia companies of various towns in Somerset county propose to hold a muster at Harmony on the 8th and 9th inst. The battalion will be officered by Elisha Knowles of Cambridge Colonel commanding, E A Bailey of Harmony, Lt Col, Washington Foss of Wellington, Major.

York

Wm Gillespie, a man about 40 years of age, who left Biddeford some two months ago for Canada, was found dead near the village of St Henry on Monday night of last week. He was supposed to have been murdered and a man by the name of O Rourke was arrested on suspicion of being connected with the crime, but two physicians after having examined the body, think that the death might have been caused by apoplexy. It is said that Gillespie was given to drinking.

The 31st annual exhibition of the York County Agricultural Society will be given at Alfred this week, October 8th, 9th and 10th. There are the best of reasons for believing that this will be the largest and the most attractive exhibition for many years. All departments will be finely represented.

A FAN DRILL IN THE MOUNTAINS.—A correspondent of the Boston Transcript, writing from Plymouth, N H, thus describes what she calls a fan drill. "I arrived here just in time for last night was a gala night in the hotel. The young ladies of the village who have established a library through similar efforts, gave a very novel entertainment, which I fancy will some day become quite popular. A 'fan drill' their performance was called, and it was nothing more than a company of young ladies in Mare Stuart ruffs and powered hair going through all the evolutions and motions of a military company, using their bright fans in a most effective manner. To these were added many fantastics of their own devising, including "flutters," all in perfect time, and to music. There were the "angry flutter," the "jaunty flutter," the "modest flutter" and the "coquettish flutter," ending up with a grand march. Each young lady wore instead of a comb a small Japanese fan in her hair and exceedingly pretty and becoming head-dress. One of Mr Churchill's pupils, a young lady with unusual dramatic talent, gave some readings and recitations, and Miss Thayer of New Bedford played the piano. There was a hop to end with and the young ladies reaped substantial benefit from their labors."

A Health-Destroying Vapor

is generated by the action of the sun's rays upon damp decaying vegetation, stagnant pools, current, low lying streets. The temperate zone is not by no means clear of this scourge. There are portions of it in relation to which that are all that is to be genuine malignant fevers which are of the most virulent type. The second and third are those in which fevers are not so malignant but are still very fatal. Involved and of the most obstinate character. The remedy for all these is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This invigorant is also effectual in overcoming the effect of miasma in those districts where fever and ague are not prevalent, but where the system is weakened by the malarious influence of the atmosphere. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is also a most powerful remedy for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Biliousness, Nervousness and Rheumatism. It is also a gentle but effectual diuretic and a most invigorating stimulant. Sold by all druggists and dealers generally.

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperament is a constitution varying in each individual case, and arises from a combination of causes, such as sudden change of atmosphere, exposure to inclemency, the use of mercury, the effects of scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough, or other contagious diseases, and in many cases it is hereditary. The remedy for this disease should be adapted to the peculiar temperament of the individual. The Radical Cure is the only one that has been found to be effectual in all cases, and is the only one that has been found to be effectual in all climates. It is a vegetable preparation, and is perfectly harmless in its effects on the most delicate system. Its success in curing Catarrh has been unprecedented. Thousands who have been afflicted with Catarrh for years, and who have tried every known remedy without avail, have been cured by the use of this remedy. Its mode of application is simple, and not disagreeable. Its effects are immediate, and a cure is effected in from one to three months. Its effects are cleansing, healing, and invigorating. Its use does not interfere with business or pleasure. Its ingredients are purely vegetable, and it can be used by the most delicate without fear of injury. Its effects are so well known to the medical profession that it is prescribed by the most eminent physicians in the country. Its sale is now more than that of all other Catarrh remedies combined. Its success in curing Catarrh has been so great that it has been pronounced by the medical profession to be the most wonderful discovery of the age

Down Penobscot Bay and Back.

Down the River—A Cruise Among the Granite Islands—Barren Rocks transformed to Hives of Industry—Superb Coast and Island Scenery—A Visit to the State Prison—Return via Rockport and Camden.

People in Maine who sigh to "go abroad" for change of scene and healthful recreation, may well turn their attention to the fact, fast becoming recognized throughout the country, that New England presents unequalled attractions of mountain, river, and coast scenery, and that our own State, with its clear atmosphere, grand watercourses, majestic coast line, and thousand-islanded bays, embraces natural beauties that more and more elicit the admiration of tourists from all parts of the world. Very few, we think, have realized the wide range of attractions lying within a day's journey from our city, none of them surpassed in their special beauty and interest. On the one hand, the romantic lake and mountain region of Moosehead, in another direction, the charming Rangeley and other lake chains in the interior wilds, nearer still, the healing waters and picturesque gulfs and gorges around Katahdin, on the eastern coast the giant mountains and ironbound cliffs of Mount Desert, across the State but a day's ride into the heart of the glorious White Hills, or down our noble river and out into the glancing waters of Penobscot Bay, swept with the pure ocean breeze from its mainland heads to the cordon of island sentries that stand guard over its approaches.

A TRIP DOWN THE RIVER AND BAY.

We made our first excursion to the lower Penobscot Bay and the Granite Quarry Islands last week, with such favorable circumstances and so much enjoyment that we are impelled to "make a note of it." Having been invited to join a party of gentlemen, principally members of the last Legislature, who had arranged to meet at Rockland, with their wives, on Wednesday evening, for a cruise among the granite islands, we took passage on the fine steamer Cambridge Wednesday forenoon, where we found the pleasant company of Hon. E. R. Nealley, Lysander Strickland, Esq., and wife, John L. Cutler, Esq., and wife, Frank Hight, Esq., and wife, Capt. Henry Treat, and wife, of this city, and James Weymouth, Esq., and wife, of Oldtown. The morning had opened clear and bright, and the trip down the river until dinner time was delightful. While enjoying the repast provided by Mr. Frank Dwinel, the popular steward, the repeated sounding of the whistle indicated a change of scene, and upon going on deck it was found that just below the Bucksport narrows we had run into a dense fog. The steamer was obliged to "feel her way" along, but by that mysterious instinct which is a marvel to steamboat passengers, the pilot made the successive landings at Belfast, Camden, and Rockland without much delay, although when we reached the latter point the fog was so thick that it was found expedient to lay over until about midnight.

At the Rockland wharf, our excellent friend Gen. W. Kimball jr. Esq., the former Mayor and present efficient Postmaster of that city, was on hand to receive us, but much to the regret of all, brought a dispatch to Mr. Cutler which necessitated his departure for New York on a matter of business. After regretsand hand-shakings with one of the most esteemed members of our party, the rest of us were speedily disposed in carriages and started for the hotels. The session of court having crowded the public houses, it was necessary to divide the party between the Thorndyke and the Lynde House, while Mr. Nealley and the writer enjoyed the generous hospitalities of General Davis Tillson's pleasant home. At the hotels the members of the party from other sections had already arrived, including Senator James Bailey and daughter, of Portland, Senator Warren H. Vinton, wife and daughter, of Gray, Senator J. L. H. Cobb and wife, of Lewiston, Senator Rufus Prince and wife, of Turner, Representatives Stephen J. Young, of Brunswick, Roscoe L. Bowers, of Saco, and Lindley M. Webb, of Windham. Our eastern party had been joined at Bucksport by Representative N. T. Hill, and when all had assembled in the parlor of one of the hotels, with a number of the prominent citizens of Rockland who had come to extend a hearty welcome, there was quite a numerous and very pleasant company. The party separated for the night with earnest wishes for "a pleasant day to-morrow."

A CRUISE AMONG THE GRANITE ISLANDS.

At an early hour in the morning we took a meteorological peep from the window of General Tillson's house, which commands a splendid view of the bay between Jameson's Point and Owl's Head, and to our delight found the sun had risen brightly and the atmosphere as clear as crystal. After breakfast our company was gathered together and at 9 o'clock we embarked on General Tillson's finely appointed new steamer, the "Hercules." On embarking we were joined by a number of prominent citizens of Rockland and elsewhere, including General Tillson, proprietor of the Hurricane Granite Co., with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. White, his son-in-law and daughter, George W. Kimball Jr. Esq. and wife, J. R. Bodwell Esq. of Hallowell, and Frank Cobb Esq. of Rockland, President and Treasurer of the Bodwell Granite Co., Capt. H. G. Bird, wife and daughter, Sidney Bird Esq. of Rockland, Edwin Sprague Esq. and wife, of the Rockland Free Press, C. E. Littefield Esq., of Rockland, and some others whose names we did not obtain. We first made a short excursion along the coast to Camden, and thence struck straight across the bay to the long line of islands. As a moderate breeze made the water in the bay so lively as to cause some of the party to be slightly "sea-sick" the steamer was run inside of the islands where the water was smooth, and the windings and reaches formed a route of ever varying interest and charm. Our destination loomed up above the smaller island ledges around it and we were soon alongside the substantial wharf at

HURRICANE ISLAND.

The first impression upon the mind of a present visitor to that sterile mass of rock rising out of the ocean, is the wonder that human enterprise and energy have been able to transform its barren ledges into a scene of teeming and valuable industry. But a few years ago the island boulder was not even deemed worth appraisal by the State, in 1870 Gen. Tillson commenced his operations there, and to-day Hurricane Island is an incorporated town of over six hundred population and over two hundred voters, and is assessed for nearly $50,000, while probably nearly $200,000 have been expended and invested in the improvements, wharves, machinery, etc., which have created on this otherwise worthless island one of the important industries of Maine.

A full description of the interesting features of the island and works, would require an extended article, and we can only give a hasty reference thereto. The island is a solid ledge of granite, rising to a high ridge in the centre, with a straggling growth of trees in spots where there could find a chance to cling. On the hillside next the wharf, a little village of neat white cottages has been built, many of them having a smooth expanse of ledge for a front door yard, while a few have enclosed and cultivated some little patches of soil in their vicinity. Near the wharf is a substantial market house and well stocked store of provisions and general supplies, and on the other side of the hill stand six large boarding houses for the workmen. On the crest is a large building used for a town hall, church, and for other public meetings, and near it is the Hurricane Island Post Office. A large reservoir, for retaining the rain fall, has been constructed on the side hill, and there are numerous wells over springs in the rock. General Tillson has also just completed a ridge 90 feet through the solid ledge, and has a pump working which is intended to supply the steam boilers. One is impressed by the immense amount of work that was done on the island under serious difficulties. The roadways run for some distance in places over the smooth ledge, and Gen. Tillson has hit upon the expedient of bolting heavy logs to the rock in parallel lines and filling in with earth, making an excellent road.

On the point near the wharf are situated the engine rooms where motive power is furnished for the machinery, and near by are the polishing works where the granite for monumental purposes is made to glitter like a mirror. The machinery for his work is quite extensive, and after watching the slow progress made by over the most improved appliances in grinding down the rugged surface of the tough granite to a polish that seems transparent, one does not wonder that his kind of monumental work is quite expensive. On the side of the island separated from the settlement by a lofty ridge of rock, are the quarries and stone sheds, where the stone is riven from the solid mass and afterward finished to a pattern, ready to be shipped and hoisted into its place in the building for which it is designed. A great chasm has been made already in the solid rock on this hillside of the island, but it appears to the observer that Hurricane alone has granite enough to supply the world. Gen. Tillson has introduced the most improved methods of quarrying, and has invented many labor-saving appliances that prove of great service. Iron railway tracks of a very broad gauge run around the quarry and near the cutting sheds, and for these the General has constructed heavy caboose cars, containing engines which furnish motive power, and also work the powerful derrick rigged on the forward platform. The stone is hauled from the quarry by the steam windlass in these cars, then hoisted by the derrick and transported to the cutting sheds, and thence again lifted and carried to the wharf to be swung on board the vessel waiting for it. Among the large blocks on which workmen were engaged we noticed a number of rectilinear stone for the St. Louis post-office weighing some four tons each, and one of these was swung on to the transporting car as if it were but a paving block, a large amount of which is cut upon the island. An interesting feature was the drilling machine worked by compressed air conveyed in a flexible pipe to any point from the powerful air compressor in the engine room. The work on Government orders is now entirely by contract and the cutters nearly all work by the piece. A number of them were engaged on large ornamental granite capital to surmount columns, and we were told that from forty to fifty days' work were required to finish one of these stones. The work was quite elaborate and very handsomely done, by the skilful manipulators of the chisel and mallet. In addition to the Government work Gen. Tillson also furnishes a large amount of stone on private orders and also carries on quite extensive monumental works, for which the polishing apparatus mentioned was constructed. The granite on this island is exceedingly tough, having a large proportion of quartz, but it takes an elegant polish which seems to render the face of the stone transparent. The General was exceedingly courteous in pointing out and explaining the various appliances and operations, and Messrs. Howard Swazey and S. W. Mathews, who superintend the work on behalf of the Government also took especial pains to afford the visitors information. We could have spent a much longer time in examining the various points of interest, but the summons to dinner was rendered potent by the bracing sea air, and the party promptly gathered around the tables in the neat and pleasant little hotel, where the officers and managers board, and we all enjoyed the excellent repast furnished by Capt. Pendleton, the host. Shortly after dinner the whistle sounded for re-embark, and as the Hercules steamed away from Hurricane Island there was a general expression of wonder that so much had been made of a barren rock, and of admiration for the energy and enterprise of Gen. Tillson in developing its resources. We steamed through the island channels and soon came in sight of the trim and busy village of situated on what used to be called South Fox Island. It is an old fishing town, incorporated in 1795 and named in honor of John Vinal, Esq., of Boston, a descendant of whom, David Vinal, Esq., is now the postmaster and a prominent citizen. On the wharf we found Messrs. Bodwell and Cobb, who had crossed in a small boat to prepare for our reception and we were escorted to the extensive works of the

BODWELL GRANITE COMPANY.

These works are also of comparatively recent origin and their immense development is another tribute to the energy and ability of Maine men, especially of the gentleman for whom they are named. We had time for but a hasty inspection of these works, which are vastly more extensive than we had imagined. A row of sheds apparently half a mile long has an open railway track supported on timbers running through the centre, and from a car on this road-way the blocks are suspended and lowered at any point for the workmen. A small army of men were at work on all sorts of stone cutting, from square blocks for foundations to the most ornamental cornice. Just below the quarry was lying in imposing state the mammoth block intended for the monument to General Wood, the largest ever quarried in this country. Let the reader imagine a solid block of granite sixty feet long and seven feet in the square, and he will have in mind a monolith but little inferior to the famous Cleopatra's Needle. The huge block was taken from a ledge apparently capable of furnishing obelisks of any size and quantity. Mr. Bodwell informed us that although the block was perfectly sound, a small vein of some two feet near the base might afford pretext for criticism, and as they had abundance of material he intended leaving that one for a curiosity and had already prepared for quarrying another. The granite in these quarries is in uniform layers and rifts as squarely as slate. The heavy drilling is done by a steam drill, the power being conveyed in pipes from the main boiler — There are extensive monumental works in connection with the quarry, and several other quarries on this and other islands are conducted by the same company. We had not time to inspect the various buildings in which the polishing and other works are situated, but we were greatly impressed with the extensive and systematic character of the operations of the company. Our time was growing scant, so that although carriages were furnished us for a drive through the town we were obliged to take a hasty ride through the principal street of the thriving village.—Among the most noticeable buildings is the very elegant villa residence of Moses Webster, Esq., one of the principal members of the Bodwell Company, who accompanied us in our tour of observation and regretted that our brief stay would not admit of enjoying the hospitalities of his home. Our party were also indebted to George Goodwin, Esq., the Government Inspector, for polite attentions. Vinalhaven is now a brisk and enterprising town, and those who knew the little fishing hamlet of twenty-five or thirty years ago, would hardly recognize the busy village which has been built up by the granite cutting industry.

A MOONLIGHT TRIP.

Embarking again just before sunset we started on the return to Camden where we had left some excursionists, and the latter part of the trip there and to Rockland was made by moonlight on one of the most lovely October evenings that could be imagined. The wind had died away, leaving the surface of the bay smooth as glass, and the fast little steamer glided past the lights on the headlands so quietly as to give all the effect of a beautiful panorama. We arrived at Rockland all too soon, but supper was in demand, and enjoyed with a keen relish after the day's voyaging. In the evening an impromptu reception was held at the Lynde House, at which our party and Rockland friends participated in social dancing and other recreation until time to say good night. Our up-river friends, with the exception of the writer and Mr. and Mrs. Weymouth, of Oldtown, were obliged to leave on Friday morning's boat, so the good-nights were mingled with good-byes, and earnest thanks to our down-river friends for the enjoyment of the excursion. The western members of the party were to remain over until Friday afternoon's train, and with them we accepted an invitation to devote Friday forenoon to

A DRIVE ABOUT ROCKLAND AND THOMASTON.

After breakfast on Friday, Gen. Tillson and Messrs. Kimball, Cobb, Bird, Col. Williams and members of their families called for us with dashing turnouts and we were again favored with splendid weather for our drive. We first rode through the principal streets of the city, and then made a tour of observation along the limestone quarries, where those of us who saw them for the first time were surprised at the magnitude of the chasms that have been opened just in rear of the thickly settled portion of the city, by the blasting of the lime-rock ledges. The stone-quarries there is carried to the kilns which are located near wharves for convenience of shipping, and the business furnishes employment to a large number of men and teams, in the blasting, hauling, burning, barrelling and shipping. From the quarries we took a circuitous road which wound up the side of a high hill in the rear of Rockland to a point where the view was nothing less than magnificent. The city, nestling in the cove formed between Owl's Head and Jameson's Point, beyond that the broad bay with its numerous and picturesque clusters of islands, over and beyond the islands the unbroken sweep of the open sea, to the right and near the spires of Thomaston, with a glimpse of Georges River, to the left the bold head lands forming the foreground to the towering Camden hills—the view was one of the most beautiful we have ever enjoyed, and to be appreciated must be seen as we saw it, in the clear, crisp light of a mellow October day, with the foliage of the trees radiant in autumnal glory, while the verdure of the intervales was brilliant as in June. But time sped and we could not linger, so we sped on to Thomaston and were driven straight to

THE STATE PRISON.

Here we were met and taken in charge by the excellent Warden Hon. W. W. Rice and his efficient Deputy J. G. Rice, Esq., and promptly ushered within the walls of that dreaded institution. The prison has been so frequently described that we need not go over its details again. We were escorted through the various departments, guard room, cell corridors, cook room, etc., and then made the rounds of the workshops, where we found the convicts industriously engaged, in blacksmithing, carriage building, painting, shoemaking, harness-making, etc., and could not fail to note the excellent order and discipline that prevailed. A fact noticed by all of our party was that a large portion of the convicts had as frank and honest looking faces as would be found among an average number of people anywhere, while a few had the unmistakable stamp of depravity in their features. The work in all the shops goes on smoothly, and the quality seemed to be that of skilled operatives. Each department is managed by a competent foreman, who prepares and supervises the work. Warden Rice has evinced great executive ability in managing this establishment, and our visit certainly inclined us to indorse the reputation he has gained as the most efficient prison official in the country. Mrs. Rice comes in for a share of the credit, as she takes great interest in the neatness of the prison and the welfare of its inmates. Among other curiosities she manifested especial regard for a decorated plate brought over in the Mayflower by an ancestor of the Prince family. The connoisseurs in antique ceramics, among our party, looked at it enviously, but were forced to leave it in prison. Emerging into the outer air again we drove to the Georges House for dinner, and thence to the Knox & Lincoln Railroad station, where our western friends were to take the train. This station is on historic ground being the premises once occupied as the home estate of Gen. Henry Knox. The stately house itself is one of the buildings that stood on the estate, but the famous Knox mansion, where such lavish hospitality was once dispensed, has fallen victim to vandal hands and been entirely demolished. The old stable still stands, a weather-beaten reminder of the days when Washington's commander and Secretary of War used to mount his horse in front of its door for a canter forong the forest. The site of the old mansion was selected with an artistic eye, the numerous sloping terraces and a fine view of the surrounding country. We also went through the several departments of the large shoe-factory, and were greatly interested in watching the systematized work and the wonderful operations of the machinery which is almost capable of making a boot or shoe without the aid of human hands. We next made a friendly call at the office of the Free Press, which has a fine new building all to itself, well appointed and arranged throughout and deserves all the prosperity it has won. Mr. Sprague was temporarily absent but we found his excellent wife in the sanctum, filling his place very efficiently, and as thoroughly posted in newspaper matters as any of her contemporaries. After a pleasant chat we started again for the hotel and bade good-bye to Mr. Kimball, who had assumed the principal care of the visitors and earned the gratitude of all by his unremitting courtesy and solicitude for our enjoyment. Finding a good team waiting for us at the hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Weymouth and the writer started on a sunset

RIDE TO ROCKPORT AND CAMDEN.

The route is a very pretty one, winding along the bay shore and we let the driver moderate his speed to enjoy the scenery at our leisure. As we entered Rockport we were reminded that our last and only preceding visit was made more than twenty years ago, when we were considerably younger, although we felt considerably older than we are to-day. Rockport is a pretty little place, with a harbor on one side of a headland while Camden harbor is on the other. Leaving Mrs. Weymouth for a call upon Rev. A. J. Clifford and wife at the Methodist parsonage, we drove on to Camden and registered at the Bay View. Before supper we had time to saunter about the village, and try to discover among its tasty dwellings and busy factories some evidence of that destitution which the Herald has made the basis of its clamor for inflation. We found a very neat and apparently thriving village, and it seemed hardly possible that the residents of such a wholesome looking place could have given a greenback majority. At the hotel we learned of the sad end of young Quimby, which had recently been discovered and was the principal topic of conversation. After supper we obtained another conveyance and rode over to Rockport, and were pleasantly received by Rev. and Mrs. Clifford, whose home is next door to the fine new church of which he is in charge. Strolling down to the village we called at the store of A. Martin & Sons, and were introduced by Mr. Weymouth to his acquaintance in the last Legislature, Hon. Joseph H. Martin, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the late election, who was so shabbily treated by the soft-money Democracy of the District for the benefit of the Communist March. We found Mr. Martin a very intelligent and agreeable gentleman, who bears his defeat with quiet philosophy and does not abate a jot of his hard money principles on account of the craze. We were joined there by Fred E. Richards, Esq., formerly of the Executive Council and Mr. Bowers, who had come from Rockland in the stage, and taking a carriage for the ladies we made a pleasant call at the elegant new residence of Mr. R., where his amiable wife gave us cordial welcome. A brisk ride by moonlight brought us back to Camden, and a sound sleep was broken in the morning by the call to take the boat. We had regretted the absence from town of our old friend T. W. Simonton, Esq., when we called at his office the evening before, but we found him waiting in the hotel office at the early hour of our arising, and enjoyed his cheery company until the old Katahdin steamed up to the wharf, and we started finally for home. On the boat we found Capt. Treat and wife, who had been visiting friends in Rockland, and quite a host of passengers bound up-river. The sail from Camden, in and out of Belfast Bay, through the Bucksport Narrows, and along the whole course of our noble river was enjoyed by us as keenly as on our first trip, and we landed in Bangor refreshed and invigorated by our delightful excursion down Penobscot Bay.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION

During a Church Service.

THE DETAILS OF THE AFFAIR.

New York, Oct. 7. The details of an attempted assassination last night are as follows: A small congregation, most of whom were attending low mass at 5:30 o'clock, assembled in the chapel in the rear of the St. Francis Xavier's Roman Catholic Church, in 16th street, Broadway and Sixth Avenues, was excited at a period of the celebration by a woman near the centre aisle. The celebrant of mass, Father Lagerty, stopped the services and inquiry then arose.

A woman gazing towards the altar, of middle age and well dressed, crept from behind her into the aisle and ran toward the main altar, having a large carving knife in her hand, from which drops of blood fell at every step. When she had almost reached the altar the woman shrieked out, leaving from her seat with her hand upon her right side, cried:—"The devil has stabbed me! Stop him!"

She ran into the aisle, but fell back in a pool of the blood flowing from a wound in her side. The fleeing assassin, with a knife in his hand, had reached the altar and was running toward the vestry, before the frightened people in church followed him. His pursuers came rapidly than he, however, and he had gone more than half the distance back. He made little resistance to the crowd of excited men and boys who had seized, cried, "Lynch him!" Before he was no sooner uttered than preparations were made to carry it into effect, for all the prisoner was seized and dragged to the nearest lamp post, but a policeman, who was at hand, had a hard time of some time, and expostulated the miserable prisoner.

The police finally arrived and rescued the prisoner. The woman was taken to the station house, where the physicians pronounced her a woman probably insane.

Meanwhile, the murderer was taken to the station house, where he was identified by Mr. Carpenter, the assistant general agent of Adams Express, upon a bench warrant, who has had trouble with his wife and mistress, Mary Evans, his victim, for her whom who left him.

WASHINGTON.

The Type Writer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. The Post Office Department decides the productions of the type writer cannot be regarded as printed matter, but must be treated as correspondence. When, however, two or three hundred letters are left with a postmaster, the contents of which are exactly alike, though written by a type writer, is prima facie evidence the production is a circular and therefore be sent at circular rates.

The Farragut Prize Money.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. A Washington special says that of the $12,111 costs in the Farragut prize and bounty case the auditors report show that counsel received all except $13,000, namely $123,472. The total amount awarded was $966,320. The bounty allowed was $268,690. The prize was considered at two different times. The first amount was $600,520 and the second $365,800. The $123,472 was paid in one cent to the three proctors of the libelants, B. F. Butler, Nat. Wilson and J. H. Ashton. The special prize Commissioner was paid in all cases. He did an immense amount of work and received $325. The counsel for the United States who appeared against the three proctors at all stages of the case received $5,982 of the remaining $13,000. The arbitrators, whose decision alone made the award possible, received $2,500 each.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES.

LONDON, Oct. 7. The name of the Glasgow firm of ship builders whose failure was announced the 4th inst., is William Simmons & Co., of Renfrew. It is now believed that the assets of the heaviest debtors of the Glasgow Bank will turn out better than at first hoped, with the exception of those of Smith Fleming & Co., and their Indian houses, which are in a bad condition.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Last week five deaths occurred in the city.

Yesterday business was very good on the market.

In about every vacant lot now you can see the boys holding walking matches.

It is thought that the receipts of the Maine State Fair will amount to $10,000.

Mr. E. M. Hersey and wife started for the West last evening for a visit of several months.

The dredge has completed operations at High Head, and went to Bucksport last evening.

Yesterday eighty-nine car loads of freight were received in this city over the E. & N. A. Railway.

The Bangor Savings Bank is paying its 53d semi-annual dividend of two and one half per cent.

The Penobscot Medical Society holds a meeting this afternoon at half-past two in the Council Room.

Yesterday white potatoes sold at fifty-five cents and Early Rose from seventy to seventy-five cents a bushel.

Next Thursday there will be millinery openings at Miss Daggett's and Miss Seavey's stores, on Main Street.

On account of the fog the City of Richmond was detained at her wharf until quarter past eight o'clock yesterday morning.

The attention of the public is called to the advertisement of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, in another column.

The invited guests of the Lancers this evening will aid the doorkeeper in his duties by presenting their cards of invitation as they enter.

The fire at Oldtown which destroyed a barn and office owned by the Veazie heirs, at an early hour Monday morning, was the work of an incendiary.

There will be a meeting of Floral Lodge I. O. of G. T. this evening and a full attendance of members is requested as business of importance will be transacted.

The Penobscot Musical Association will open their Convention in City Hall this morning. This convention promises to be one of unusual interest, and we hope it will be liberally patronized.

Mr. Stover, who lives on lot 26, Woodland, Aroostook County, raised on one one acre this season eighty bushels of sound ripe corn, beside beans and pumpkins. The ears are small, being only twelve rowed.

Yesterday Mr. M. H. Andrews received a dispatch from the 5th Regiment Band, of Boston, requesting him to furnish a first violin player, for the ball this evening and Mr. Crombie of his Orchestra will probably assist them.

On Wednesday evening last, Mr. Chas. Bartlett, of Bangor, was chosen Captain of the Freshman crew at Harvard College. He has been captain of the boat crew at Exter for a number of years and is well worthy of the position.

Yesterday Mr. S. S. Low left several magnificent pears of the Burdick variety at this office. Two of them weighed twenty-one and one-half ounces, and four forty-one and one-half ounces. They were raised in his garden on Centre street.

Frank W. Rollins has taken room No. 18, Main Street, and having secured the services of Mr. Campbell, formerly with Hersey & Plaisted, he is prepared to make ladies' and gent's boots, which he will warrant a perfect fit in every instance.

If in your walks these autumn days you find a poor bumble bee lying on his back amid the scented clover, with his eyes shut, his head thrown back, holding up his feet, do not stop and pick him up. It is too early in the season; he's only fooling.

Yesterday a little girl was quite badly bruised by being struck on the ankle by a stone thrown by a small boy. A great many boys are in the habit of throwing stones at anything they get their eyes upon, and, as in this case, they are liable to injure some one, and should break themselves of this dangerous practice at once.

Our readers will be pleased to learn that Mrs. Youmans will lecture in City Hall next Monday evening. On her last visit to this city, Mrs. Youmans lectured in Norombega Hall before a large and highly pleased audience, and she will undoubtedly be greeted by another large and enjoyable audience on Monday evening.

A few days since as Mr. Joshua Gould was riding in the country, he saw a large fox on a hill, and taking his rifle pistol, he fired at him, thinking he would make the animal disappear suddenly. Although the range was a long one, he killed the animal at the first shot, and will have the skin mounted.

We understand it is probable that arrangements will be made for a fast special train from Boston to Halifax via the Eastern, Maine Central, European & North American, St. John & Maine and Intercolonial Railways on occasion of the celebration in honor of the arrival of the Marquis of Lorne about November 24th. The rates of fare to be very low.

THE SPARRING MATCH at City Hall last evening, attracted a large audience, every seat in the Hall being occupied. In the first round Baker was knocked down, and it was very evident that he had over-estimated his skill when he made the match with Mr. McGlinchey. Before finishing the second round Baker asked for quarter, and the match ended. Mr. McGlinchey acted very gentlemanly throughout, while Baker's only thought was to manufacture some story by which he might get out of his bad predicament. At the close of the above, Mr. McGlinchey and W. C. Hall had a friendly contest, in which Hall proved himself to be a good sparrer.

TELEGRAPH DISTRICTS CONSOLIDATED. The Press says: "On the 1st of October the third district of the Western Union Telegraph Company, comprising Maine and New Hampshire, was abolished, and the offices of the line in these States consolidated in the fifth district, which includes Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut. Chas. F. Wood, Assistant General Superintendent, has charge of the new district, and Mr C. C. Bedlow, who has managed the affairs of the company in the third district since the death of his father is promoted to the position of assistant superintendent. The headquarters of the consolidated district will be located in Boston."

A REMINDER OF A BANK ROBBERY. The Press says: "When the Lechmere Bank at East Cambridge was robbed of a large amount in cash and stocks some time ago, among the property stolen was a $1000 bond of the city of Portland. A coupon of the stolen bond was recently presented at the office of City Treasurer Hersey for payment. Notice was immediately given by telegraph to the President of the Lechmere Bank, but no notice was paid to it and the coupon was paid as it came in the way of business. The other day Mr. Hersey received a letter from a Boston detective in regard to the matter. The letter was couched in such language as to be unworthy of a reply."

SAIL BOAT UPSET. A correspondent at Enfield writes as follows: About two o'clock Sunday afternoon four young men took a sail boat belonging to Mr. C. B. Trent and went for a sail on the lake. When nearly a quarter of a mile from shore, the boat commenced leaking badly, which was observed by one of the crew. They immediately started for shore, and when some hundred feet away the boat sunk, but fortunately the depth of the water did not exceed three feet, so none of the crew got very wet. Had it been in deep water it might have been a narrow escape. One of the gallant crew climbed the main mast to repair some rigging while the boat was out in some twenty feet of water. This same boat was the one upset last summer with a party of six. The names of the crew are: Mr. Brown, Chas. Gilman, E. M. Estabrook and an unknown young man. They all seem to feel well over their sail.

A DIFFERENT STATEMENT. We clip the following communication, written by Mr. Reardon, who accompanied Driscoll to this city on the recent walking match from the Portland Argus:

If you will allow me space in your columns I will mention what duty compels me to do. In Driscoll's challenge to Mr. Toole I was surprised to have him express himself as being unfairly dealt with. I accompanied Driscoll to Bangor, and was also a witness to the race. I can truthfully say it was fairly won by Mr. Toole. Driscoll was beaten from the word go. Mr. Toole is a gentleman, as are also the judges and referees who were selected by the audience and approved of by Mr. Driscoll, who now takes a very unmanly way of proclaiming his defeat. Furthermore, I believe Mr. Toole could beat him ten miles if he so desired. He is a fast and graceful walker, as I happened to know. Driscoll got the best of treatment. I thought it my duty to say this much and vindicate the character of the gentlemen in Bangor.

ADVANCEMENT. One of our citizens sends us the following: A few days since a brother of mine living in a neighboring town, and eighty-five years old, was visiting me in this city. We were talking about the Gilmore Band of Boston, now in Europe, and the two Bangor Bands when he related an incident of olden time, showing advancement in Band music. He said that when a boy nearly seventy years ago and when our family lived within about ten miles of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., that he went to Commencement and that the College government and graduating class were ambitious then, as now, to procure the best music to be had at that time and sent to Boston for a Band. It consisted of four pieces a bassoon, two clarionets and a violin, and these men came from Boston, 120 miles, probably on a stage coach, consuming nearly a week to make the round trip, and the music could not be much like the music of the above named Band,—surely there has been progress in Band music.

RAISING CORN IN MAINE. A farmer in Androscoggin County made the following reply to a reporter of the Lewiston Journal who asked him if he could raise corn in Maine: "Raise corn? why just look here," pointing to a field full of corn—"why, there are sixty bushels of shelled corn to the acre yonder, and my farm account shows that it has cost me forty cents a bushel. I think it is absurd to have so much good farming land in Maine idle, when we have to spend so much money for western corn. Perhaps you may ask how I fix on the cost of my corn, well, it is done in this way, and I think it correct. I charge one-third of the dressing to the corn. The next year I get a good crop of grain and the field does well to grass 8 or 9 years. I think the corn crop hasn't eaten up over one-third of the dressing. I spread on manure liberally and put superphosphate in the hill. Yonder is one of these fields. It gave me a good corn crop, then a good crop of oats, and this year I have taken seven tons of hay from these same three and one quarter acres. "Give and get," is what the land has to say to every mother's son of us."

OBITUARY. Mr. Editor: One of the oldest and most respected citizens of East Corinth Dr. Jared Fuller, died about one o'clock last Sunday morning, after a painful illness of nearly two months. He was born in the town of Hampton, county of Windham, and State of Connecticut, Jan. 10, 1806, and was seventy-two years, ten months and seventeen days old at the time of his death. He married Miss Henrietta Hinman, at Sullivan, Maine, Jan. 19, 1837, and have had born to them nine children—two girls and seven boys—six of whom are still living. He came to this town in 1833, where he has practiced his profession ever since, nearly forty-five years, with good success, and during the time has held various offices of honor and trust in his town and State. He always took a leading part in promoting the interest of education, and contributed liberally of his means in carrying out the various projects of the Baptist Society, of which he was an esteemed member. By his death his family lose a kind and indulgent husband and father, the poor a sympathizing and generous friend, the town a noble citizen, and the profession an intelligent and successful member.

SAD END OF A PROMINENT SEA CAPTAIN. Our correspondent at Calais writes: Word was received at Calais Sunday that Capt. Chas. MacGregor, of Baring, N. B., was found dead in a field back of his house with a bullet hole in his head. Your correspondent started for the scene of the tragedy, and arriving at the usually quiet village of Baring we found everybody excited, and learned the particulars which are as follows: Capt. McGregor has been at home most all summer. The first time he his friends noticed any thing unusual in his actions was a week ago. At that time he brought his wife and family to Calais in the afternoon, intending, as he said, to take the boat Monday morning for New York. Shortly after his arrival at Calais he went to Cone & Co.'s livery stable and got a team for the purpose of taking a short drive, and did not return until Wednesday afternoon and could not tell where he had been, or what he had been doing during his absence. Saturday forenoon he left the house about seven o'clock and as he did not return at dinner time a man was sent to the depot and see if he had taken the noon train for Calais; but he had not been seen near the depot, and as he did not return in the afternoon his family became anxious, and thinking that he might possibly be in the woods search was made, but proved unsuccessful until Sunday morning at about eight o'clock when he was found in a field back of his house. He laid on his back with his legs crossed and the pistol in his right hand—one chamber was empty and a scar on his right temple showed that he had died almost instantly. Coroner Rose, of Milltown, N. B., was notified and impanelled a jury, who rendered a verdict in accordance with the above facts. Insanity was undoubtedly the cause of this rash act.—Capt. McGregor was thirty-five years old and has sailed as master of large ships for the last fifteen years. He leaves a wife and three children, who have the sympathy of the entire community in this hour of affliction.

Police Court.

In the police court yesterday Patrick Donohue, one of the men who took the team Sunday night, was arraigned for drunkenness and fined $5 and costs and obliged to pay for the team.

Timothy Sullivan fined $3 and costs for drunkenness, and appealed.

John Prescott, same offence, fined $5 and costs and in default of payment, committed to jail.

ON TRIAL.

Joab W. Palmer and al. vs. Samuel Woodbury. On Nov. 9, 1876, the three masted schooner Carrie E. Woodbury was moored to a pier of the toll bridge between Bangor and Brewer. The vessel had taken in part of her load and the master desired to run down to High Head to finish loading. About seven o'clock in the evening of said day the vessel was taken in tow by the tug boat Ralph Ross, and with from 100 to 150 feet of line between the vessel and tug was proceeding down river. It seems that plaintiffs owned a boom nearly opposite High Head on the Eastern shore of the river; that a large number of logs were secured by this boom; that on the way down the tug boat cleared the boom, but the vessel run into the head of it and in order to get clear, the boom was cut, thus letting the boom swing down and letting out the logs. It is admitted that the night was very dark, that the vessel was towed down, and intended to be turned round and left head up river at the wharf at High Head; that the tide was high and a freshet on the river. Plaintiffs bring their action to recover for logs lost and cost of saving others, and say that defendants were careless in undertaking to move down the river on so dark a night in the then condition of the river; that there was plenty of room outside the boom; that the boom did not interfere with the prudent navigation of the river; that it was outside the channel; that after running into the boom there was no need of cutting it; and that the logs might, even if it was necessary to have cut the boom, have been saved under proper management and care.—Defendant says he run down that night because it was not safe to remain at the bridge with his vessel until morning; that the river is a highway for use as well by night as by day; that he had a right to move down in the night; that he exercised all proper care; that the boom was an obstruction to navigation and ought not have been there, that having run into it, he had no other way to get out than to cut the boom; and that all was done to save the logs that could be done.

THE VISIT OF THE LANCERS

The Company to Arrive on the Train This Morning—Street Parade in the Afternoon—Grand Ball this Evening.

On last evening's train J. P. Silsbee, Esq. and George I. Holt, Esq., of Boston, of the Committee of Arrangements, on behalf of the National Lancers, arrived in this city, accompanied by Mrs. Capt. Charles F. Thurston, Mrs. Capt. Emery, Mrs. Capt. Russ, and Mrs. Fred. Stroh, and took apartments at the Bangor House. Messrs. Silsbee and Holt spent last evening in making arrangements for the accommodation of the Lancers, who are to arrive in strong force on the Pullman train this morning. Despatches received last evening announced that about one hundred of the red-coat members, twenty-five of the black coat division, and the Fifth Regiment Band, of twenty-one pieces, were enrolled to start on the train, and there might possibly be additions to the number.

On arrival this morning, the visitors will be welcomed at the station by the local committee and tendered a military escort to the Bangor House, headed by the Bangor Band and a platoon of Police.

During the forenoon the Company will rest after their night's journey, and in the afternoon will have a street parade in uniform.

The grand reception, promenade concert and ball at Norombega Hall tendered by the Lancers to citizens of Bangor, will open promptly at 8 o'clock, and proceed according to the programme heretofore published. The doorkeeper will be provided with a list of the authorized invitations, and to prevent error the guests are requested to present their cards of invitation as they enter the Hall. Cloak rooms have been provided for ladies and gentlemen in charge of efficient persons, and pains have been taken to provide in every way for the comfort and enjoyment of guests.

From 8 to 9 o'clock a promenade concert will be given by the Fifth Regiment Band, one of the finest in New England, and after that the Orchestra of the Band will furnish music for the military ball. From 11 o'clock refreshments will be served throughout the evening on the stage, the Lancers having engaged Fraser to provide abundantly for their guests.

Our people will undoubtedly appreciate the liberality of the Lancers in tendering this entertainment to citizens of Bangor and the military of the State, and they have issued invitations under advice of the local committee to as large a number as possible under the circumstances. We hope that our visitors will fully enjoy the festivities which they have so generously shared with the community they have chosen to visit.

It is suggested that the Bangor members of the Reception Committee and Floor Managers meet in the ante-room in rear of the stage on arrival at the Hall.

HARVEST IN THE SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY.—The San Francisco (Cal.) Bulletin says: "The reports from the San Joaquin Valley all concur that the harvest in this section of the State is greater than any previous one. This is true of the whole stretch of country from Suisun Bay to the Tehachipe Mountains. All the local papers also assert that the grain was never better. The yield is turning out better than the farmers themselves anticipated. In those parts of the valley, especially in Merced and Fresno Counties, where it has been stated wheat would never pay, there have been good crops. In Stanislaus County alone the yield has been estimated at 7,000,000 bushels. The crop is so large as to be out of proportion to the number of threshing-machines ordinarily in use. The consequence is that much of the wheat will not be ready for market for two months.

Captain Fengar of the United States revenue cutter Ewing tells a good story. Coming to anchor in Annapolis harbor one dark night he found a schooner lying there with no light on her mast. The captain of the schooner, fearing that he would be reported and fined at once put off in a boat, and coming alongside of the cutter, hailed the officer of the deck for a light for his white lantern, as his hand dropped out and fallen overboard. "Why don't you take a lamp out of your red or green lantern?" asked the lieutenant, "you are not using either." "But it's a white light I want," said the skipper; "a red one won't do." "Well, put it into your white lantern, you lubber." The skipper did not seem satisfied, but pulled back to his vessel, took the lamp from his red lantern, lighted it and put it into the white one, and then the officer of the deck on the cutter heard the following exclamation across the water from the puzzled sailor: "Well, I'll be gol darned if that ain't the most curls thing I ever seen."

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. june10 deow6m

LETTER CARRIERS

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly

Persons having their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the express routes.

Collectors are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A M and from ½ to 1 P M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A M.

Persons calling at the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand corner of envelopes purchased by those at the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

Envelopes for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and place, across the left end of the envelope on the issue, will be complied
